

PopUpShow®

In 2020, as COVID confinements reigned, singer/musician Tony DeNardo devised a mobile live-music platform, which he called the Socially Distant Pandemic PopUpShow. Now, the PopUpShow continues to bring joy to people, and has become a consortium of seasoned New Mexico musicians who donate hundreds of hours annually, sharing the magic of music with under-served citizens. Regular shows occur at senior care facilities, programs for those with developmental disabilities, and at venues that support veterans. Additionally, free guitar lessons are offered for kids and teens at the Belen Public Library. Your support of the PopUpShow will bring the joy of music to those who need it most. PopUpShow is a non-profit organization; donations are tax deductible. Please visit, and share PopUpShow.net. Thanks always, to our sponsors who make it all possible – we hope to see you at an upcoming event!

From featured performances at the ABQ Sunport, to band performances at local senior centers that draw hundreds of community members, PopUpShow facilitates therapeutic musical enrichment for groups of under-served people via the engagement of accomplished musical artists. Fundraiser and artistic director Tony DeNardo leads many of the events with his one-man band project. The distinction between a "band" and a "solo act" becomes arbitrary when one person is capable of delivering the same sonic complexity and musical cohesion as a full ensemble. Experience it all, and access (at no charge) our events via our schedule published at PopUpShow.net. With the ongoing support of you, our sponsors, PopUpShow can continue to make available, accessible live-music events to those who benefit the most!
